

Principal Sam Campbell speaks out

By Neil Fater

Parents again asked the School Committee and interim superintendent Tuesday for information regarding the resignation of Sam Campbell, West Middle School principal. This time they got some answers from Sam Campbell himself.

Holding a newly written statement

School Committee meets Saturday, 8-10 a.m., and Sunday, 1-3 p.m., to discuss superintendent finalists, and may be taking a vote.

in hand, Dr. Campbell spoke to the committee as part of a heated exchange between parents and committee members that included a standing ovation for the outgoing principal.

"On March 7, I was given the option of either resigning or not having my contract renewed," said Dr. Campbell, confirming suspicions that he was forced to resign. "I would also like to say that if given a contract I would have accepted it."

Dr. Campbell waived his right to privacy, opening his personnel files for the rest of this month to show "there is nothing dark or sinister in there." School Committee members and the interim superintendent had said they wouldn't comment on this issue because it involved Dr. Campbell's confidential file.

Dick Neal, interim superintendent, followed the advice of the School Committee and is seeking legal counsel

West Middle School Principal Sam Campbell told the School Committee and a room full of parents and teachers Tuesday night that he would have accepted another one-year contract had it been offered.

before talking at length about this issue.

He did say, "Dr. Campbell was not terminated."

Although Dr. Campbell's resignation came as an unwelcome surprise to many at West Middle, Dr. Campbell said he was not startled by the option

Campbell releases his evaluations

By Neil Fater

Saying he has nothing to hide, Sam Campbell, principal of West Middle School, has released the superintendent's yearly evaluations of his performance for his first three years.

Containing specific observations and recommendations, the documents trace Dr. Campbell's actions as he went from "You've made a very good start!" in 1992, to his controversial resignation this year.

The evaluations show Dr. Campbell and Mark McQuillan, superintendent of schools, came to a mutual understanding just before Dr. McQuillan left for his new job in Lincoln last spring. This understanding was that if Dr. McQuillan's successor did not believe Dr. Campbell had made significant improvement during the 1994-1995 school year, then Dr. Campbell would willingly submit his resignation before April 1, 1995.

Mystery documents

Dr. Campbell was evaluated twice last year, during his third year as West Middle principal.

In the first of these evaluations, Dr. McQuillan asked Dr. Campbell to review his suggestions for improvement and "to develop a short-term, strategic plan." Upon completion of this plan, Dr. McQuillan said he would observe Dr. Campbell again and offer a second evaluation.

"My concerns will need to have been satisfactorily addressed if I am

Here is Dr. Campbell's statement

Sam Campbell referred to the following prepared statement while speaking before the School Committee Tuesday night:

"To my surprise, the events and comments, both written and spoken, surrounding my recent resignation have raised more questions than answers. Because the topic seems to transcend the mere issue of a principal resignation, it is time for me to demystify the topic as much as possible.

"Upon my resignation, I had hoped, and expected, to leave Andover quietly at the end of June, leaving things in the hands of a new principal. That is no longer possible.

TV-turnoff Week was a turn-on for some residents

By Don Staruk

Approximately 234 Sanborn School students quit watching TV last week as part of National TV-turnoff Week. They gave up watching TV Monday, April 24, through Sunday, April 30.

Five in a group of six Sanborn students who talked Monday about their week without TV said they usually watch TV every day. None of the six cheated and snuck in a show or two.

"I rollerbladed a lot," said Emily Cohen. "We had a big water fight in my neighborhood."

"I played with my father and sister outside," said Jessica Hsu. "I drew a lot."

Michael Lattari played sports outside. Contractors were putting in a lawn and deck at Michael's house last week, so he also watched the bulldozers.

"People in my class were crazy because they couldn't watch TV," Michael said.

Seniors will pursue expanding existing building

By Don Staruk

Despite the fact that the town manager is pursuing other options, seniors are focusing on expanding the Senior Center within the existing Whittier Court building, or in an addition to that building, according to Dorothy Bresnahan, Council on Aging chairwoman.

"What Town Meeting gave us permission to do, that is what we plan to do," Ms. Bresnahan said Wednesday morning. "We are not looking at anything but the building we are in at this time."

April Town Meeting voters gave seniors the go-ahead to negotiate for more space with the owners of the existing building.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski met with seniors Monday morning to discuss their plans. He told selectmen Monday night that he planned to meet with Dick Neal, interim superintendent of schools, next week to discuss using land on Chestnut Court, at the far back of the Doherty School play fields, as a site for building a new senior center. But Ms. Bresnahan said that is not the direction in which seniors are currently heading.

"We as yet have no indication from the school department or the School Committee that they have any intention of giving us, or offering us, anything," Ms. Bresnahan said.

The council is hoping, before too long, to get the money and legal issues cleared for the existing building, "so that we can start and renovate that building," she said.

"We are not going to give up the foothold we have on the building," unless we get an agreement in writing from school and town officials that they are willing to offer another site, Ms. Bresnahan said.

"We have not been approached" by school officials, she said.

"We would like to sit down and talk with them - show them the plans," she said. "We want to apprise them of what our plans are."

Bill Ryan, vice chairman of the Council on Aging, said that he understands it is Mr. Stapczynski's job to make everybody happy, and that there may be other proposals coming from the schools. And he said the council would want to hear those ideas.

"We'll listen," Mr. Ryan said. "But we're not changing any of our plans," because right now "we have nothing other than what we know."

Ms. Bresnahan said the council is working on a statement of intent aimed at clearing up any misconceptions about the seniors' intentions.

"We're trying to be very clear so that people will understand our viewpoint," Ms. Bresnahan said. "We're trying to dispel all the misconceptions that all the various committees have thrown in our way."

Seniors plan to host open houses and solicit feedback on the plans for expansion long before anything is started, Ms. Bresnahan said.

Youth Center update

Katie Brown, Andover Youth Council member, told selectmen Monday night that the council is continuing to meet with town officials and members of the community to restructure its proposal for building a youth center. The group is going back to the beginning of the site-evaluation process and considering all sites previously looked at and some new ones, "so we can answer any questions you or the town may have," Ms. Brown said. She reiterated what fellow council members said last week, that the council is considering asking for a Special Town Meeting this summer to present a new proposal.

Selectmen Chairman Larry Larsen told Ms. Brown that he hoped council members are taking very seriously the consideration of alternative sites. He also asked Ms. Brown and other members of the Youth Council, if it becomes

Working on tougher auto larceny penalties

During the recent House budget debate, Rep. Gary M. Coon, R-Andover, successfully added an outside section to the state budget that would toughen penalties for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and larceny of a motor vehicle.

The amendment would impose the following mandatory minimum sentences for people convicted of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle: first offense, minimum 60 days of community service; second offense, minimum 90 days in jail; third and subsequent offense, minimum one year in jail.

It also would impose the following mandatory minimum sentences for people convicted of larceny of a motor vehicle: first offense, minimum 60 days of community service; second and subsequent offense, minimum one year in jail.

"We cannot say we're cracking down on car theft if the thieves are walking out of court with a $50 fine," Rep. Coon said, citing the usual penalty attached to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. "Traffic citations cost more than that."

Rep. Coon's 17th Essex District includes the city of Lawrence, which in recent years has twice ranked second place in the nation for auto theft (on a per-capita basis).

PA bike race to close some streets Sunday

Phillips Academy will host the annual New England high school cycling race Sunday, May 7, from 1-5 p.m. With the approval of the selectmen and police department, the loop encompassing Old Campus Road, School Street, Central Street and Phillips Street will be closed to motor traffic and parking. Traffic on Central Street between School and Phillips streets will detour via Lupine Road.

"We love spectators and invite the community to watch," said Derek Williams and Henry Wilmer, PA's cycling coaches. But they also cautioned that cars, pets and careless pedestrians are a serious hazard to cyclists.

"We want to thank the community for its understanding and patient endurance of any inconvenience."

Tennis tourney to raise funds for mammograms

The Rolling Green Tennis Club and Sweet Sara Foundation Inc., an organization dedicated to providing funding for free mammograms to medically underserved women, will co-host a 10-hour tennis tournament Saturday, May 13. The tournament is in memory of Regina Doyle, a resident of Andover and member of the Rolling Green Tennis Club. It will raise money for the fight against breast cancer.

Ms. Doyle died May 6, 1994, at the age of 46, leaving her husband and two children.

She participated in many local organizations, including the children's program at Lawrence General Hospital. Tennis was a big part of her life. Ms. Doyle's tenacious tennis game, gracious nature and commitment to humanity earned the respect and admiration of those who knew her.

The tennis tournament will span six courts and include up to 120 participants. Cost is $25 and all proceeds will benefit women in need of mammograms.

For more information, call Judith Geneen of Sweet Sara Foundation at 1-800-245-SARA. Ms. Geneen and her sister, Lisa Spinale, established the Sweet Sara Foundation to honor their mother, Sara, who died in 1991.

Best bet: Collins Center to operate at a loss

By Neil Fater

As long as the Collins Center's chief purpose is to serve as Andover High School's auditorium, it probably won't turn a profit.

But by working with community groups and placing some limits on High School use, Andover could offer more shows and begin a Saturday arts enrichment courses for kids.

This is according to the second Collins Center report submitted by consultant Ellen Spear.

Four possible options for the future of the Collins Center are offered in this report.

One option would keep things essentially as they are, but use more aggressive marketing and a new rate structure for rentals. The annual loss of running the center would be $55,710, assuming revenue goals are reached.

A second option would pull together local arts groups to create a "Collins Center season," with arts groups sharing the cost of center management. This plan somewhat limits the High School use of the center, but lowers the projected yearly loss to approximately $44,600.

A second option would pull together local arts groups to create a "Collins Center season."

Ms. Spear also presented an option that uses the arts consortium set-up and also creates an "arts academy," offering Saturday morning classes to students for a fee. This further lowers the first-year loss of operation to around $41,662, according to the report.

A final option is to bring in an outside management company to run the center. Although the cost of running the center would be covered, availability of the center for High School-related use would be severely limited.

According to the report, "It is unlikely that the town will be able to defray 100 percent of its fixed cost for the Collins Center or generate net profit without seriously compromising the center's stated primary function - use as a school auditorium."

Planners approve Eisai and Phillips Academy plans

By Joan Brown

Pushing through until nearly midnight on Tuesday, April 25, town planners approved two special permits, allowing Eisai to build a facility off River Road and approving renovation plans for Abbot and Draper Halls at Phillips Academy.

Currently operating a research institute on Corporate Drive, Eisai will build the new, 92,000 square-foot structure nearby on a 27-acre lot at 100 Federal St. The clinical production and development facility will be built in two phases and employ a maximum of 50 employees, said Eisai representatives. No biological work will occur at the facility.

Eisai will probably post signs against trespassing at two large ponds - popular for winter ice-skating - currently on the site, according to Steve Colyer, planning director.

Also approved was a special permit allowing the renovation of Abbot and Draper halls at Phillips Academy.

Abbot Hall will be used for an art studio, offices and an apartment. Draper Hall will house 12 faculty apartments and some offices, according to Michael Williams, director of facilities at Phillips Academy.

Draper Hall was partially demolished last fall in anticipation of the project.

"Draper Hall is in some jeopardy," said Mr. Williams. "We don't want to take it through another winter."

Anxious to get the project started, he said officials at Phillips Academy worked closely with neighboring residents and town police to resolve traffic-flow issues before the April 25 hearing.

Planners will recommend to selectmen that parking be reduced or curtailed on surrounding School and Abbot streets. In their conditions of approval, planners also required a parking review after 12 months. The plans currently include a 177-space lot that should be sufficient for the site. If more parking is needed, Mr. Williams said an area that would allow 88 more spaces could be developed.

In other action, planners:

- Voted to continue public hearings until May 9 for two special permits required for renovation at 40 Railroad St., the former Tyer Rubber site;

- Closed public hearings on the proposed Woodman Ridge subdivision, located off High Plain Road near Interstate 93. The board is expected to vote on the project at its May 23 meeting;

- Approved a parking-space request at 10 Main Street;

- Approved a reduction in the performance guarantee money for developers at the Quailcrest Estates subdivision off River Road, on the condition that all street signs are permanently installed.

The Planning Board meeting adjourned at 11:48 p.m., continuing a late-night trend caused by increasing numbers of special-permit hearings. Planners have dealt with about 20 special permit situations so far this year. The board issued 14 special permits in 1993 and 25 special permits in 1994.

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, CLU, ChFC

TOTAL RETURN

When investors figure out how well their investments are performing, they are looking for the total return on the money that they have invested. In addition to yield (which is generally the amount of income that an investment produces), total return includes how much an investment gains (or loses) in value. That is, the total return produced by a stock or stock mutual fund not only takes into account its dividend, but the gain or loss when it is sold. According to financial experts, an overall return should exceed inflation by at least three percent over time, in order to make it viable. For instance, during a period of three percent inflation, the return should be six percent or more. Historically, many pension funds have earned four percent more than inflation. In the right circumstances, with a good deal of time in front of you before the funds will be needed, it is very possible to earn a total return much better than this. Please give us a call to see if we might be of help to you with your investment planning.

BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES offers particular expertise in developing investment strategies and choosing the investments to carry them out. We always discuss the level of risk tolerance with which you are comfortable - aggressive, moderate, or conservative - before going forward with a given plan. Our concern for an individual client's situation is just one aspect of our client dedication. For more information or an appointment, please call us at 475-9212. Our office is conveniently located at 10 Essex Street, here in Andover. We also have an office at 100 N. Washington St. in Boston (617-523-4500).

HINT: The standard mix of many pension funds is 60 percent stocks, 30 percent bonds, and 10 percent cash. Since no two clients or their needs are alike, the appropriate mix for your retirement or education planning situation might be very different. We would be glad to help you sort out what investment strategy is appropriate for you.

HOW TO USE A REALTOR'S EXPERTISE

If you are using the services of a professional Realtor to find a new home, good communication is crucial to the transaction. A Realtor who knows your most significant criteria can work much more effectively to show you homes that will meet your needs.

Let your Realtor know why you are interested in a specific area — because of proximity to your job, good schools, or just the overall appeal of the area. If there are no houses available in your price range, the agent may suggest alternate neighborhoods with the same amenities. Do you need a home office or do you have hobbies that you want to accommodate? Is there a particular style of house that you prefer over others? Is a fireplace or large kitchen especially important to you? We sometimes have to be a little psychic when we work with buyers. The more you can tell us about what you really must have and what you are willing to compromise on, the easier it will be to find something that's perfect for you.

urehead may have to wait. The School Committee currently is in the final stages of its search for the next superintendent.

"Once we're beyond that, I'm sure that (the possible logo change) will be one of many things we will be discussing and (we'll decide) how we will proceed," said Susan Dalton, committee chairwoman. "It will be something the committee will be talking about in the not-too-distant future."

In an optional and secret ballot last week, 365 of 573 High School students voting elected to change the Golden Warrior symbol. That means approximately 64 percent of those voting elected to change the symbol. The school's governmental body, made up of both students and teachers, voted 36-4 to replace the Golden Warrior, with four people abstaining. Thirty-three of 51 teachers, approximately 65 percent of those voting, also favored change.

Prior to these votes, a group of students met with the School Committee to discuss a variety of subjects, including the logo issue.

"It seems like they're very interested in making a concerted effort in getting input from the alumni of the High School," said Andy Ewalt, a student at that meeting. "There was a wide difference of opinion. I don't think any two members felt the same way about it."

Although the School Committee has the final say on this matter, Mr. Ewalt, a proponent of change, said, "We're not just going to sit back and let the School Committee decide without any input."

"The first step is to see if the School Committee will support any change whatsoever," he said. "Students have spoken, faculty have spoken and it's a matter of whether the School Committee will listen to that. That's the way I see it right now."

If the committee decides to change the logo, Andover will need to decide if it wants to change team names, as well. Dolores Dunning, an art teacher, supports keeping the name Golden Warriors, but changing the current logo from the silhouette of a native American in headdress. Others, such as Mr. Ewalt, say it makes more sense to change both the logo and the nickname.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hoggood, D.M.D.

STROKE SCREEN

As it now turns out, dentists can concern themselves with a type of plaque other than the one that coats the teeth. According to a recent study, a panoramic X-ray can detect calcium deposits in neck arteries that are an indication of damaged artery walls and plaque buildup. Each year, artery-choking plaque proves fatal to more than 150,000 stroke victims in this country. Some of this number could be helped by early treatment on the basis of X-ray detection. Panoramic X-rays have proven to be effective in this respect because the camera tracks in a circle around the patient's head and picks up the presence of calcium deposits in neck arteries. While no one suggests that these X-rays should be routine for stroke screening, they can provide useful information when warranted.

As part of your health care team, we are concerned about all aspects of your health. If a medical condition is discovered during a dental exam, you can be sure we will share that information with you as well as any other health care provider you choose. May is Stroke Awareness Month. Observance of this event is designed, among other things, to alert the public about stroke's warning signs. For complete gentle dental health care, call us at 475-2431, 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 (with easy access off Rt 93). Hrs: Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment. P.S. Panoramic X-rays can also help detect the source of TMJ problems by providing a picture of the temporomandibular joint.

Youth Council to take hard look at potential center sites

clear that Recreation Park is not a good site, would the Youth Council give up the youth center idea or would members consider another location?

"How do you feel about that?" Dr. Larsen asked.

Brian Major, adult council adviser, said there is give and take in any decision and that that is why council members are going back re-evaluating other sites.

"If it turns out there's another site that works out better, then we'll go with that," Mr. Major said.

Dr. Larsen said after the meeting that his only intention for asking the question is to make sure council members are not locked into one position. Politically, the Rec Park site could have problems, he said.

"I think it's going to be hard to sell the Rec Park site," Dr. Larsen said.

Members of the Youth Council will update the board weekly on their progress.

Several members of the Youth Council last Friday cleaned up the area around Poms Pond as part of the week-long Earth Day celebration.

Mr. Stapczynski told board members Monday he spent part of last week at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kan., at a conference on municipal management, and that he took the opportunity to exchange ideas with that city's officials on creation of a youth center. Lawrence, Kan., is also considering building such a center. Although Lawrence, Kan., is much more urban, with 100,000 people in an area about three-quarters the size of Andover, Mr. Stapczynski said he gleaned some ideas from them. Lawrence has several recreational centers and is currently using dedicated space in one of them as a youth center.

This is on the record

Mr. Stapczynski said he also met with members of the press in Kansas and that he learned a finer appreciation for the decisions the media has to make on a daily basis. Among topics discussed were how newspapers decide what to print in sensitive situations, such as suicide or murder, and where such items should run in the paper.

Teacher can study in Eastern Europe

By Neil Fater

European-history teacher Katharine Horne will get her chance to see history in the making after all.

Ms. Horne, an Andover High School social studies teacher, is one of only 13 high school and college educators selected by the Department of Education to study in the Czech Republic this spring.

Until recently, it looked as though she might have to turn down the prestigious award because school officials said they could not pay for both her salary and the cost of a substitute to replace her.

"I am really elated. It looks like things are going to come together," Ms. Horne said Monday. "There was a lovely gesture by a private citizen, (to donate some money). It was just such a lovely gesture of generosity and personal supportiveness of public education."

The High School Parent Advisory Committee, the social studies department and the superintendent's office were among the school groups that scraped together the necessary cash, she said.

Ms. Horne will leave for Eastern Europe May 15 and return June 21.

When she returns, she'll teach about the fledgling Czech democracy to both her students (in the classroom) and to her co-workers (in staff-development courses).

Ms. Horne will be hitting the books at Prague's Charles University, founded in the 1340s by King Charles IV.

It will cost approximately $120 per day for a long-term substitute, but it's worth it, said Tom Meyers, sounding very much like the teachers union president.

"If we don't put the money into staff development, we're not going to progress as a system," he said. "I think also in the classroom, it's a natural (because) Kathy teaches European history and world civilization."

A reception in Ms. Horn's honor will be held today, Thursday, 2:30-3:30 p.m., in the Garden Cafe of Andover High School. The community is welcome.

◀ Students, teachers, administrators and other townspeople found out just how difficult it is to play donkey basketball last Saturday night at the Andover High School gym. They were raising funds for the Hole-In-The-Wall Gang Camp, in memory of the late Stephen Milmo (AHS class of '97). Here Betty Ianechelli, AHS science teacher, aims for the hoop.

"Although the riders' object... is to actually score some baskets, the donkeys' object is to make complete asses out of the would-be riders," their owners said.

SCHOOLTALK

West Middle School recently upgraded its technology with new computers, software and networking capabilities. Ken Kwajewski, technology specialist for the school, will explain the technology program at the PAC meeting Tuesday, May 9. Meet in the Media Center at 7:30 p.m. for conversation and dessert. Mr. Kwajewski will then give a tour of the computer lab.

Fifth-grade science award nominees from Bancroft, Sanborn, South and West Elementary schools were recognized by Genetics Institute executive Tom Reynolds, Principal Eileen Woods and the School Committee at a recent School Committee meeting. This is the fourth year Genetics Institute of Andover and Cambridge has underwritten this awards program recognizing the scientific talents of fifth-graders from each elementary school. Ms. Woods, who coordinates the program, said, "The criteria are uniform for all schools. The nominees from each school were interviewed at the Andover plant of Genetics Institute by David Goodwin and Peter Laksy."

The following students received recognition, based on criteria including teacher observation of science performance; report-card grades; evidence of outside scientific interests; Stanford Achievement Test performance in grade 4; and science projects.

Bancroft: Kaitlin Hill, James Maffione and Cheryl Van-Schalkwijk; Sanborn: Heather Berquist, Kellen Moriarty and Salman Rafique; South: Christina Kelleher, Lakshmi Ramgopal and Andrew Tonelli; West Elementary: Benjamin Atkins, Rohan Joshi and Srigowri Vitayakumar.

Everyone, young, old and in between, is invited to tell a story or listen to stories at the story swap at Andover Bookstore next Friday, May 12, from 7 to 8 p.m. Stories about history, family, fantasy or fun are welcome as long as they are for a family audience and no more than 10 minutes long. Admission is free and the bookstore is now open every Friday night until 8.

Spring Funfest '95 will be held Saturday, May 13, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Pike School on Sunset Rock Road.

Young children will have a choice of pony rides, a moonwalk, giant slide and midway games of skill and chance. There will be the gyros and karaoke for older children. Face-painting, pot-painting, cookie-decorating and craft activities will be available. There will be a salad bar, meat-eater's grill, pizza, home-baked goods, fried dough, cotton candy and ice cream and tables of plants, used books, crafts and unique gifts.

Phillips Academy will host its annual college fair Monday, May 8, from 5 to 7 p.m. in Case Memorial Cage. Area 11th-graders and their parents are welcome. Approximately 135 colleges and universities will be represented.

Doherty Middle School PAC will meet Thursday, May 18, at 7:30 p.m. in McGrail Media Center. The topic will explore "Why are some people consistently late while others are always prompt? Why are some people very vocal and others scarcely ever comment?"

Answers to these and other questions regarding the natural preferences people have can be understood with the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI), a personality-assessment tool. Cheryl Williams, marketing coordinator for The Network, a 25-year-old, Andover-based nonprofit educational organization, will give a brief overview of MBTI - what it is and what it does.

A business meeting will follow at 8:30. It will be the PAC's last meeting for this school year.

Two Andover students at Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield have been named to the honor roll for the 1994-'95 quarter. They are: senior Deborah Barry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Barry of Rachel Road; and freshman Shawn S. Shetty, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Santos K. Shetty of Wyncrest Circle.

The Andover Education Association will celebrate teacher Kathleen Horne's Fulbright Fellowship with a reception in her honor today, Thursday, May 4, in the garden cafe at Andover High School, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Ms. Horne will study for five weeks at Saint Charles University in the Czech Republic. She will explore the economic and social changes taking place in post-Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Ms. Horne is a longtime member of the AHS social studies department. She has received numerous summer fellowships, including research for the last two summers on the Holocaust in Israel and Poland, organizers said.

Ms. Horne teaches AP European history and world civilization. She plans to share her learning with her students and peers

Andy Cotton

Andy Cotton, an eighth-grade student at Doherty Middle School, will represent Massachusetts in Washington, D.C., this weekend in the 12th annual National MathCounts competition. After a semester-long series of regional and state-wide competitions, Andy and three Mathletes from Newton, Lexington and Belmont, emerged as the winners, forming the Massachusetts team, competing against the best math talent in the country.

The foursome and their coaches fly to Washington, D.C., today, Thursday, to stay at the OMNI Shoreham Hotel, where an all-day competition will take place tomorrow. The 200 national winners will be honored at an awards banquet Saturday evening. In between the competition and the banquet, the team will tour the Capitol Building, Lincoln and Vietnam memorials, Arlington National Cemetery, and the National Air and Space Museum.

The Doherty Middle School MathCounts team won the regional competition and finished fourth in the state. Doherty math teacher Marcia Harol and parent volunteer Yuri Litvin worked with the team composed of

Andy, Dan Chen, Naveen Goela and Mike Lewis and alternates Laura Corliss, Vikas Goela, Aaron Litvin and Yan Tsang. MathCounts is sponsored by the Society of Professional Engineers, CNA Insurance, General Motors, Intel, Texas Instruments, NASA and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Andy also qualified at the high school level as a member the Eastern Massachusetts All Star Math Team and will travel with the 40-member team to Penn State University to compete in another national competition in June.

Andy is the son of Janice and Joe Cotton and brother of Zachary Cotton.

Last month, Doherty Middle School team 7A participated in a demonstration of Russian lacquer miniature art by two graduates of the Palekh School of Art, in Palekh, Russia. Boris Velitchko, 36, and his wife, Marina Chpin-dovskaia, 29, are two of a group of Russian artists touring New England with the support of Friendship Force and local chapters of the National Society of Decorative Paints. During their nine-day stay in Andover, the couple were guests of Alan, Kathie and Kristin Wilson of Mohawk Road. The Wilsons own a decorative-painting shop in North Reading, and became involved with the project through their membership in the White Mountain Decorative Painters Guild.

The seventh-graders are studying Russia as part of their eastern hemisphere curriculum. The artists were able to share their art and current culture with the students. The Palekh artists are known throughout the world for their diminutive works painted with egg tempera and gold on black lacquer papier-maché pieces. Many of their works, including those of Boris and Marina, are on display in museums and fine art galleries worldwide.

Merrimack College will host a half-day workshop on environmental education for elementary school science teachers Saturday, May 6.

Andover's two Odyssey teams prepare for Finals

The Doherty Middle School and South Elementary School Odyssey of the Minds teams, which won first place in their problem divisions at the OM state finals at Worcester Polytechnical Institute last month, will represent Andover and Massachusetts at the Odyssey of the Mind World Finals tournament in Knoxville, Tenn., May 24-28.

Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Curaçao, Germany, Kazakhstan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, China, Poland, Virgin Islands, the Ural and Moscow regions of Russia, Italy, Japan, Hungary, Chile and the United Kingdom will send their winning representatives.

The Doherty Middle School team members Amanda Barash, Heidi Carroll, Virginia Carroll, Becky Dann, Lindsay Hanna, Rachel Harkins, and Kira Ventura received the highest overall combined score for their long-term technical solution to their Mail Must Go Through problem; the style with which they presented their solution; and their ability to work spontaneously as a team and solve a new problem on the spot before a panel of judges. The humor in the team's skit and the clever integration of the required technical tasks into their Wizard of Oz reunion theme were clearly winners with the audience as well as the judges.

It is noteworthy that these Doherty sixth-graders were competing against students in seventh and eighth grades. The team was coached by Ronnie Ventura, Lynn Barash, and Kim Hanna.

South Elementary School team members Ali Earnley, John Colanageli, Philip Lucas, Alex Marsh, Jennifer Mason, Geoffrey Shulik and Lea Ventura won overall first place for their solution to Scientific Safari, including their presentation style and spontaneous problem solution. Their toyland theme, innovative papier-mâché animals, colorful scenery, creative use of music and excellent team work caught the judge's attention. These third-graders were also the youngest children in their division, competing against fourth- and fifth-graders. The team was coached by Lorraine Mason, Sherry Shulik and Ronnie Ventura.

Retired 32-year South School teacher will be honored next Friday, May 12

After 32 years of working with children, C. Christine Maynard retired from teaching at South School in September 1994 under the special early-retirement program offered for two years by the state.

There will be a gathering at South School next Friday, May 12, from 3:15 to 5 p.m. in her honor.

Ms. Maynard hopes to see many former students, their parents and friends. She requests that there be no gifts, but hopes that a fund will be established in her name, so she may choose books each year for the library. Donation is $5. Make checks payable to Sunshine Fund, South School, care of Toni Kulcsar.

Ms. Maynard is a native of Andover. Because her father was an instructor of mathematics at Phillips Academy, her family lived in PA houses until his retirement in 1974, after 43 years of teaching. Until she was 3 years old, they lived in the double house beside the "America House" on Main Street.

When Ms. Maynard was interviewed for a teaching position in Andover, the superintendent told her that "Andover never hired a teacher who

C. Christine Maynard

She remained at South, teaching grades 2-5, working with nine principals in 32 years.

By remaining at South School, organizers said, she has been able to know families from the oldest to youngest child, and sometimes into the next generation.

Ms. Maynard can still be seen at South caring for her geraniums that winter in various classrooms, going on field trips and taking part in other school and PTO activities.

Plan before you plant.

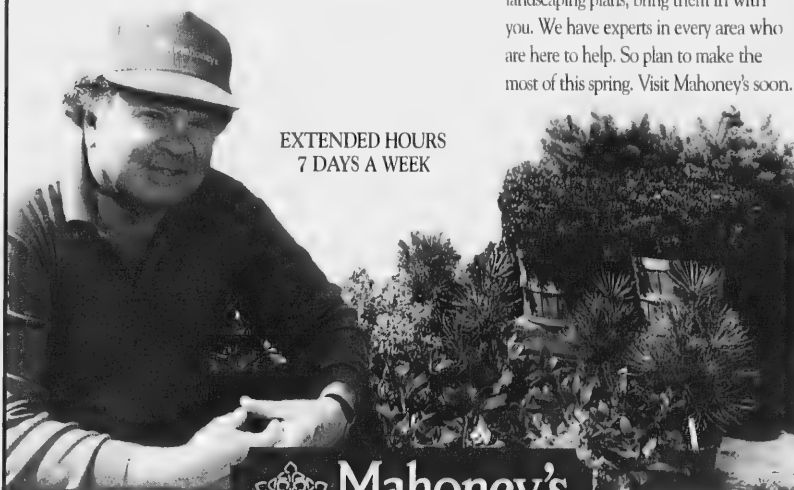

If landscaping is on your spring list, now is the best time to formulate your plans. Here are just a few reasons why:

Spring is the perfect time to plant. The temperatures are warmer, but not too hot. There's plenty of water in the ground. And the sooner you plant, the more time the roots have to strengthen and grow.

Another reason to plan now is that at this time of year Mahoney's selection is as it's biggest. You'll get the best selection to pick from: shrubs, groundcover, annuals, perennials, trees, etc. It's all here, in stock.

And if you have questions about your landscaping plans, bring them in with you. We have experts in every area who are here to help. So plan to make the most of this spring. Visit Mahoney's soon.

Plan before you plant.

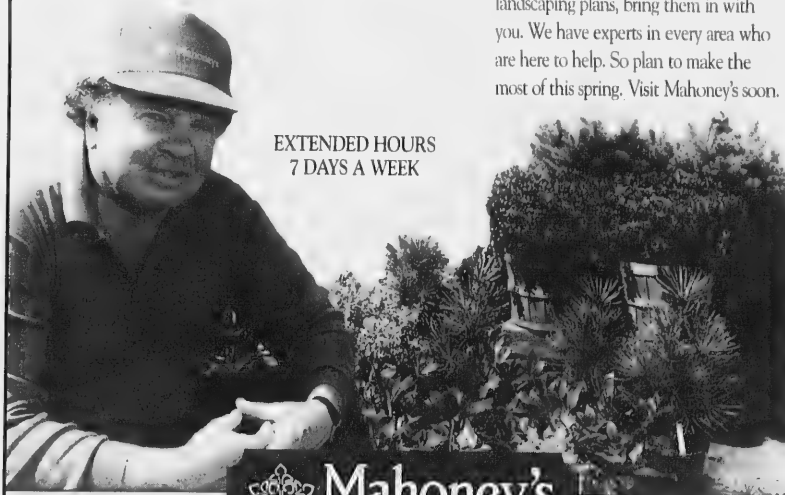

If landscaping is on your spring list, now is the best time to formulate your plans. Here are just a few reasons why:

Spring is the perfect time to plant. The temperatures are warmer, but not too hot. There's plenty of water in the ground. And the sooner you plant, the more time the roots have to strengthen and grow.

Another reason to plan now is that at this time of year Mahoney's selection is as it's biggest. You'll get the best selection to pick from: shrubs, groundcover, annuals, perennials, trees, etc. It's all here, in stock.

And if you have questions about your landscaping plans, bring them in with you. We have experts in every area who are here to help. So plan to make the most of this spring. Visit Mahoney's soon.

Planners having trouble keeping up with work

By Joan Brown

"We want planned projects," Tom Powers, of Spring Grove Road, said during April's Town Meeting discussion on building proposals. "None of these projects have a plan. You bring it back next year with a plan and I'll support it."

Questioning the planning of major projects was common during April Town Meeting. Teens were denied a youth center because many residents and officials believed that planning was inadequate. Seniors lost the chance to expand beyond the confines of the existing senior center, with planning again getting the blame. Three new playing fields were approved, but with a required 90-day period for public hearings to further plan the sites.

In some ways, residents who questioned planning had a point.

"There were some projects we just didn't have enough information on," said Michael Miller, Planning Board chairman. The board routinely studies sites, examining how proposed changes will affect access, security, support systems and the environment. But none of the groups presented their plans to the Planning Board for review.

And contrary to how things worked in the past, the planners this year didn't have the time to seek the seniors, youth or recreation representatives to discuss the plans.

"The difference is the agenda," said Mr. Miller. "We are really swamped with other business."

Through the first four months of the year, Planning Board meetings were packed with required special-permit hearings, subdivision and development filings.

Increased building

See related story, page 5

Planners are in the midst of the most rapid building resurgence in nearly a decade. The number of subdivision plans coming before the board in 1994 increased by 300 percent over 1993, and the number of special permits issued nearly doubled, according to Steve Colyer, planning director.

"This is the first time that we haven't had adequate time to do a good review of those big issues," Mr. Colyer said of the Town Meeting building proposals. He and Laura DeGroot, senior planner, are Andover's only full-time planners.

As the amount of usable land in Andover dwindles, the number of properties needing special permits is steadily increasing.

"The good pieces of land are gone," said Mr. Colyer. "The more sensitive the land is, the longer it takes to plan." Hearings on a single special permit can span several months, he said.

The planning staff's job is to make sure that each special-permit situation meets all town and state requirements. Mr. Colyer and Ms. DeGroot also coordinate other town departments that deal with the proposal and prepare the proper documentation for Planning Board action.

"We have to do that in a set amount of time," said Mr. Colyer. "If you don't react in a timely fashion, (developers) get constructive approval."

Planners don't expect a decrease in the requests for special permits anytime soon.

"It'll never go down until we're out of land. There are certain parcels of land that God never meant to be developed," said Mr. Colyer. "But if (developers) bring in a plan, that's their right ... I can't make them not come in and hand me plans."

As of April 25, the two planners are tracking 30 special-permit, subdivision and commercial developments, as well as numerous other projects including:

- Shawshen Square, Dascomb Road and Route 28 improvements;
- A Main Street traffic-signal study;
- Reorganization

of the town's zoning bylaw;

- Site visits to current building projects;

- Lawsuits stemming from Planning Board rejection of special permits and subdivision plans;

- Management of subdivision performance guarantee money;

- Requirements of the town's master plan for land use.

Among their other duties, Mr. Colyer and Ms. DeGroot deal with problems and questions from town residents.

"If someone calls me and asks, 'Can I subdivide my land?' I can spend an hour with them. They're a landowner. I owe them that. That's another part of my job. That's a big part of my job," said Mr. Colyer.

Third planner?

Both the planning staff and the Planning Board would like to see another planner on the staff. "There is enough work for three planners," said Mr. Colyer.

Because of budgetary constraints, no replacement was hired after planner Harry Smith left the staff in 1993.

An entry-level planner could do some of the field work, monitoring subdivisions and bonding, according to Mr. Colyer. "The workload keeps going up. A little bit of up-front planning can save a lot of money in the long run," he said.

An entry-level planner would cost the town about $22,000 per year in salary. Last year, the Planning Division made more than $41,000 from various fees.

"We have by far the most capable - very professional, smart, dedicated - staff of anywhere around," said Mr. Miller.

"You need people to plan ... so you don't have haphazard development," he said.

Other town work

Planners will be assisting the effort to find a suitable site for both a proposed youth center and three new playing fields. Part of their evaluation will include access, utilities, security, environmental, traffic and sidewalks issues.

"They're going to be very involved," said Buzz Stapeczynski, town manager. "My direction is to assist in all ways possible."

Hoping to encourage groups in the future to take advantage of the staff's expertise, the board will begin scheduling monthly workshops.

"We're going to try to hold special workshop meetings to try and deal with general planning issues," said Mr. Miller.

He said the board and planning staff will try to actively request groups to submit plans.

"To wait until someone complains, then it's too late," said Mr. Colyer. "We want to do more proactive and less reactive planning."

WHAT'S UP

Andover High students will attend AIDS Pledge Walk

By Valerie Parker
Andover Youth Council and
AHS Walk Team captain

Sunday, June 4, is the day for the 10th annual AIDS Pledge Walk. Since this event was first organized in 1986, the purpose of the AIDS

Pledge Walk has been to help people with AIDS live with dignity, to increase awareness and compassion, and to help stop the spread of HIV. Last month, the government announced that AIDS is the leading killer of Americans between 25-44; this month they announced that they are cutting AIDS funding. Outside of government funding, the walk continues to be the most significant source of money needed to continue the fight against AIDS.

This event is expected to raise more than $2.8 million and attract 35,000 people this year.

Last year, more than 1,000 teams were organized at companies, schools, churches and synagogues, hospitals, retail stores, law firms, and by friends, families, community groups, and others. The people who walked on those teams brought in more than half of all the money raised at the walk.

Last November, Andover High School students raised more than $2,500 to place them in the top five schools attending the AIDS Dance-a-thon. In the AIDS Pledge Walk, Andover High students will be expected to raise even more.

This year, Andover High students' efforts and commitment will help the AIDS Action Committee and 30 other AIDS service organizations sharing the proceeds from this year's Walk to reach their goal.

Led by team captain Valerie Parker and assisted by Catherine Dimitroff and Kiran Raman, Andover High students will walk among thousands knowing that what they did mattered, and that their efforts will make a difference in the lives of many who are living with AIDS.

If you wish to walk or to form a team, call the Walkline at (617) 424-WALK, or fax information to (617) 450-1265.

Donations can be sent to: AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, Mass. 02116.

'South Pacific' plays at AHS this weekend

The Andover High School Drama Guild will present Rodgers and Hammerstein's South Pacific Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6, at the Collins Center at 8 p.m.

The performance will be dedicated to all American veterans on the anniversary of the end of World War II.

Tickets are $8 and available from cast members and at the door.

More than 100 students are involved in the production, including cast, crew and orchestra. The leads include junior Rick Snyder as Emile de Becque; seniors Aaron Wexler and junior Todd Buonopane as Luther Billis; junior Julia Henderson and freshman Jen Powers as Bloody Mary; and sophomore Meghan Woo and freshman Lindsay Strube as Liat.

Principal Campbell releases his evaluations to grant you tenure for the 1994-1995 school year," wrote Dr. McQuillan.

A key element of Dr. Campbell's file is that it contains two different "second evaluations."

Both versions contain the same basic evaluation, which includes a list of five tasks for Dr. Campbell to accomplish during the 1994-1995 school year.

But one version contains an attached legal agreement between Dr. McQuillan and Dr. Campbell that requires Dr. Campbell to resign if the next superintendent informs him he is no longer wanted as a principal.

Neither Dr. McQuillan, nor Dr. Campbell signed this legal agreement.

Both signed the other version of the "second evaluation," which included a mini-action plan created by Dr. Campbell.

Dr. McQuillan wrote, "Much at West Middle has been carried on by force of tradition, so much so, that tradition appears to prevail. It has been my expectation that many of these things (mentioned in the evaluation) would have been accomplished by now."

This version stated: "It is (Dr. McQuillan's) expectation that if, following our annual evaluation processes for all administrators, I do not, or if my successor (interim or otherwise) does not believe Dr. Campbell has made significant improvement next year, Dr. Campbell will willingly submit his resignation before April 1, 1995."

Dr. Campbell would not comment on why there are two "second evaluations," nor why one remained unsigned.

Evaluation remarks

All of Dr. Campbell's evaluations contain both positive and negative comments, in addition to recommendations. Perhaps the more critical comments came in the first evaluation last year.

Dr. McQuillan wrote, "Much at West Middle has been carried on by force of tradition, so much so, that tradition appears to prevail. It has been my expectation that many of these things (mentioned in the evaluation) would have been accomplished by now."

However, the evaluation also said, "There is ample indication that parents feel invested in what goes on there, and that students truly do count in the eyes of the administration. Students are cheerful, positively engaged in their work, and respectful of Dr. Campbell."

Referring to maintenance, Dr. McQuillan said, "The building is still not clean enough, despite your efforts to be more vigorous. I believe you have not taken action with certain custodians, when asked to, nor have you engaged the faculty as thoroughly as is needed to enlist their efforts to maintain a clean building. The typical faculty response continues to be that it is someone else's problem."

Regarding monitoring and supervision, Dr. McQuillan wrote, "Sam has done a satisfactory job in supervising the staff. His evaluations are done on time, and they are, for the most part, supportive and positive. Student discipline, similarly, is most satisfactory, with few, if any significant problems being brought to me."

Dr. Campbell said Tuesday evening he believed Mr. Neal was unhappy with his evaluations of teachers.

"He felt they just made everybody look too good, they were too glowing," he said.

Another possible negative for Dr. Campbell was that in the West Middle School Improvement Plan a majority of the teachers said the administration has not been helpful with issues brought to its attention, does not communicate effectively with staff, and does not alert the staff to student information such as detentions.

West Middle School Principal Sam Campbell

Yet, two members of the school council noted Tuesday night that Dr. Campbell is not the only member of the West Middle School administration. A majority of the West Middle staff wrote a letter in support of Dr. Campbell after news of his resignation became public.

In responding to the school-improvement survey, a vast majority of parents said the administration was helpful with issues brought to its attention, has contact with their children, and communicates information to parents.

Committee to meet on finalists

By Neil Fater

The School Committee will meet both days this weekend to collect information on the superintendent finalists.

Although Chairwoman Susan Dalton had originally hoped to entertain the possibility of selecting the next superintendent of schools on Sunday, community input convinced the committee to delay that decision until at least after the weekend.

The committee will meet Saturday from 8 to 10 a.m. at the school administration building with other members of the site and telephone teams that gathered information from the superintendent finalists' hometowns.

Sunday, the committee will take input from students, parents, teachers and administrators from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., again on the second floor of the school administration building.

The Townsman wants to talk with veterans of World War II. This year's Memorial Day ceremonies are honoring veterans of WW II. Please call Alix Driscoll at the Townsman, 475-1943.

Births, which normally run the first Thursday of the month, will be published in next week's Townsman.

Ballard Vale United burns its mortgage

Ballard Vale United Church took a walk down memory lane Sunday as the congregation gathered out of doors for the burning of the mortgage.

The church began in early 1850 with the establishment of two churches, the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Ballard Vale Union Society for Public Worship, which later became the Union Congregational Church. Discussions of a merger began shortly after the 100th anniversary of both churches.

The two churches joined April 2, 1955, to form Ballard Vale United Church. By 1965 it was determined there was a need for a larger facility and in February 1967, Ernest Hall, general contractor, was contracted to build a new church. The congregation marched from the old church on Andover Street, up Clark Road to the new Ballard Vale United Church on Sunday, Nov. 26, 1967.

The building of a new church is a great commitment, organizers said. Now, 28 years later, many members from that original congregation were there to witness a dream fulfilled.

The Rev. Susan Morrison offered a re-dedication and blessing as the congregation sang "hallelujahs."

The Ballard Vale United Church is a reconciling/open and affirming congregation and accessible to the physically challenged.

Andover walks for hunger this Sunday

By Alix Driscoll

Several hundred residents of Andover are making a commitment to fight hunger in Massachusetts by trekking the 26th annual 20-mile Walk for Hunger this Sunday in Boston.

Three local church communities are traveling together to join the more than 43,000 participants, who expect to raise more than $3 million.

Andover High School and Phillips Academy students are walking together and West Parish Church youngsters are doing a mini-walk locally.

South Church, on Central Street, is sending two buses full of parishioners, neighbors from Christ Church, Ballard Vale United Church and West Parish Church, and townspeople who wish to ride to Boston, leaving at 7:30 a.m., after the 7 a.m. worship service.

One bus is going to the Common for 20-mile walkers; the second bus is heading to Newton Center for those who wish to walk only 10 miles. Call the South Church office, 475-0321, to sign up for the bus and to obtain pledge papers.

More than 200 students from Andover High School and Phillips Academy are joining forces to ride to Boston and walk, jog, run or skate the 20 miles together. They are meeting at PA for breakfast in Commons at 7:47 a.m. and leaving for Boston at 8 a.m. Each student walker is rounding up at least $15 in pledges, with a total goal of $3,000.

AHS students may pick up sponsor sheets at the school library and community service office at the High School. Raheela Qureshi is the AHS student organizer.

Phillips Academy students receive pledge sheets when they sign up.

The children of the West Parish Sunday School are contributing to the assault on hunger by collecting pledges and travers-ing a two-mile route through the West Parish cemetery.

People seeking information, rides or pledge papers should call Rev. Lionel McGehee at Christ Church, 475-0529; Carol Filbin, at South Church, 475-0321; Rev. Joe LaDu, at

West Parish Church, 475-3528; Roger Desjardins, the St. Augustine community, 470-2965; Rev. Susan Morrison, Ballard Vale United Church, 475-2506; Christine Bader, Phillips Academy community service office, 749-4135; and Peggy Cain, Andover

High School community service coordinator, 470-1700, Ext. 320.

The Walk for Hunger raises money for 510 organizations that feed hungry people in 127 Massachusetts communities. Registration begins at 7 a.m. on Boston Common.

*Consider
These Thoughts*

by Garry A. Burke

GREATER PERSPECTIVE

One advantage of old age is that it offers a perspective that invites wisdom. As much as we would like to think that we can impart wisdom upon younger people by advising them of our own experiences, it largely remains that youth rejects such advice and is left to learn life's lessons for itself. An older person is rich with experience, with an approach to life that may be suffused with its implications and greater meaning. Thus, he or she may be left to ruminate over great questions. Those cultures that pay heed to the words of their aged stand to benefit greatly from their wisdom. As Jawaharlal Nehru wrote: "I am getting old and the sign of old-age is that I begin to philosophize and ponder over problems which should not be my concern at all."

The most inevitable fact of life is that it will end one day. Making personal arrangements for this day should be no more unusual than making out a will or buying a life insurance policy. For more information about pre-arrangement, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200. We handle funeral needs while keeping budget and type of service in mind. We are conveniently located at 390 North Main Street. Combining the spirit of Older Americans Month (May) and National Tourism Week (May 2-8), this month celebrates the many opportunities for seniors to travel.

QUOTE: "Age imprints more wrinkles on the mind than it does on the face..."

No TV ...

gave up TV for the week.

"I saw two dead animals while I was driving with my dad," said Michael. He was "driving" his bike and Dad was jogging.

"I had a lot of soccer practices and I went on a lot of bike rides," said Allison Dexter. "I finally cleaned my room."

"It was hard," David Holstein said.

David listened to the radio and "played board games and stuff like that." While Michael and Molly Klarman had the company of their families, who also gave up TV for the week, Jessica, Emily, Allison and David were going it alone.

"My brother (Tobey) couldn't give up watching the Bruins for a week," Emily said.

Although he felt that giving up TV was an accomplishment, David said he would go right back to watching TV regularly.

Molly said she isn't sure she would give up TV again next year.

Emily said she will use her in-line skates more in the future rather than watch as much TV.

Pick a tube - any tube

Of the six students, Michael's family has the fewest TVs with two. One of the families has three TVs, two have four and two have five.

According to a recently completed survey, Andover residents watch an average of 24 hours of television a week, just below the national average of four hours a day. The survey of Andover residents, at least 88 percent of whom were adults, was conducted by a consultant looking at entertainment sources in town and at potential uses for the Collins Center.

Each student participating in the TV-turnoff Week took home a pledge sheet that the student and his or her parents were to sign, agreeing to partake in the program. All the sheets had not been collected by early this week so it was unclear how many siblings and parents also took part, according to Susan Devine, a parent, former teacher and an instigator of Sanborn's TV-turnoff Week. But Ms. Devine was pleased with the number of students involved.

Ms. Devine said informal polling showed that adults missed TV news more than anything else.

Once pledge sheets are in, all participants will receive a certificate. Some will receive prizes - randomly chosen - which include gift certificates.

To change TV habits

Connie Scanlon, her husband, Pat, and their two children, Janice, 10, and David, 8, of 34 Washington Ave., all went without TV last week. As a result, they decided to watch less TV in the future.

"Phenomenal. It was absolutely phenomenal," Ms. Scanlon said Monday.

There were no complaints from anyone, she said.

"It was a good week for playing," Ms. Scanlon said.

Even Saturday morning was not a problem for Janice, who would usually watch Fudge. And on Sunday David read funnies instead of watching the Berenstain Bears. And Ms. Scanlon did not miss Murphy Brown or some of the other sitcoms she had gotten used to seeing.

Mr. Scanlon, though he may have missed watching the news, wanted to continue the drought for another week, but the kids weren't so sure. After a family conference Sunday night, the kids decided they would prefer the option of choosing just a few shows to watch each week. Ms. Scanlon said she could go without the tube completely, but agreed to the compromise. Mr. Scanlon was away on business Sunday and Monday, but will also likely agree with the compromise, Ms. Scanlon said.

Although her kids chose shows to watch, "I didn't pick any shows. I am absolutely loving this," Ms. Scanlon said. "And I slept great."

Ms. Scanlon said it was enlightening to talk with other parents and learn that "a lot of us watch more TV than we'd like to, but we feel resigned to it."

But it doesn't have to be that way, she said.

"It's so much more peaceful," Ms. Scanlon said. "I am absolutely delighted. I think this has made a huge change in our house."

No CNN

Susan Browne, a pediatrician and single mom, her four children, Jarrod, 14, Kristin, 12, Brendan, 10, and Devin Connors, 8, and their nanny, Kathleen Murphy, all gave up TV for the week. Ms. Murphy said the week went smoothly for the kids. There were no arguments, really, she said. There was no cheating.

"The younger kids had a hard time reading the paper for the news," Ms. Murphy said. "But we've got them listening to NPR."

None of the family members usually watch much TV anyway, and during the week the kids are only allowed to watch news, so it was only an issue on weekends.

Ms. Murphy said they were all proud on Monday to have made the whole week. And on Tuesday, she said she didn't think any of the kids had had the TV on yet.

More free time

Reading, studying, soccer and playing were among several common activities Sanborn School students listed as things they did instead of watching TV last week. Some other activities noted by participants included:

- Cleaned up house;
- Earth Week trash collection;
- Went out for ice cream;
- Climbed in tree fort, hung out with Mom/read book during sister's nap, water garden and lawn, and my friend watered my house;
- Hiked up Ward Hill, built a bonfire with Dad and Ian;
- Play secret garden game with my mom, make up stories with my mom;
- Pretended to be a geologist, learned to ride bike, washed car with a friend, looked through a microscope and saw hair, saliva, skin, bee wings and onion

Principal Sam Campbell speaks up

Mr. Neal presented him "because I had been looking over my shoulder about a year."

Dr. Campbell and Mark McQuillan, former superintendent, agreed to a contract last year that outlined several goals Dr. Campbell had to attain if he was to be offered a new contract.

Dr. Campbell said School Committee members have never approached him to express concern about his behavior. He said one of Mr. Neal's concerns appeared to be that Dr. Campbell was not tough enough on teachers in his evaluations.

"It was implied that West Middle School wasn't that much different from when I came," said Dr. Campbell.

In order to clear up rumors, the principal said he was never asked to fire specific people.

"No one ever said that, though from time to time you could read between the lines," he said. "Nobody has ever come to me and said, 'You need to fire so and so.' But it's more a sense than anything else that there are different approaches to how you deal with personnel. My approach is to deal with people one on one, particularly if they're trying (to improve), they're really trying."

Dr. Campbell said he did not plan to leave Andover this soon, until he was presented with the resignation option. However, he said he and his wife were hoping to complete a purchase-and-sale agreement on his Andover house yesterday, Wednesday.

"The reason we're building a house (in Virginia) is we need a place to live," he said. "My plans were to be here for five to seven years."

Dr. Campbell has no jobs lined up but said, "I mean, I'm looking for one. If anyone has one please let me know."

Angry audience

Tuesday night's meeting marked the second meeting in a row that parents filled the School Committee room seeking answers, and last week's confrontational tone between the audience and the board members was carried over.

"I feel embarrassed for the committee," said David Birnbach, new committee member. "Trust is worse this week than it was last week, and I thought it was bad last week."

Susan Dalton, chairwoman, sought to put off extensive discussion, noting both the West Middle and the Bancroft School Improvement Plans were on the agenda to be discussed. But school council members said they were willing to put off their presentations to deal with this issue.

Discussion lasted about two hours and some parents who were watching on TV, such as Gloria Davis, of Oriole Drive, left their houses and came to the meeting to offer Dr. Campbell their support.

Maryann Jelson, of Dascomb Road, asked the committee what part of West Middle it would name after Dr. Campbell, since the media center is named after former principal William Hart.

Another bombshell was dropped by Bill Huston, former committee member. He said it was his "internal suspicion" that Dr. McQuillan, the former superintendent, was called by committee members while Dr. McQuillan was in charge and asked to get rid of Dr. Campbell. Under the Education Reform Act, only a superintendent can be involved in the hiring and firing of a principal.

"I think Dick Neal is going through on something he was set up on," said Mr. Huston.

The reaction to Mr. Huston's statement, of Helen Campbell, Dr. Campbell's wife, who was in the audience Tuesday night, was "Thank God it's out."

School Committee members did not respond to this thinly veiled accusation. Dr. McQuillan could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Although the committee is looking to move quickly to choose the next superintendent, several people, including student representative Sarah Weir, suggested the choice should be delayed until the role of Mr. Neal in Dr. Campbell's resignation is established.

"We have a superintendent search obviously and we're trying to bring it to finality," said Tom Meyers, teacher's union president. "I think we really need to clean this issue up before we go forward."

"No issue is more important than public accountability because it is the bedrock of the democratic system that we have," said Jim Krasnoo, former High School PAC president, who suggested the committee pick a time to deal exclusively with this issue. "Yes, get your ducks in order, but pick a meeting," he said.

The committee voted 5-0 to establish such a meeting, although no date was set. Members said they would choose the date by tomorrow, Friday.

The School Committee will meet Saturday, 8-10 a.m., and Sunday, 1-3 p.m., in the School Committee room to discuss the superintendent finalists.

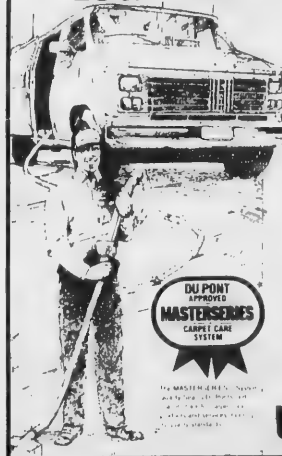

Photos by Perry Colmore

Sarah Weir, AHS student representative to the School Committee, asked that students who have met the superintendent candidates be given the chance to speak about the finalists. That's Sam Campbell's wife, Helen, in the very back, far right. In the photo below, Dr. Campbell, seated at left, receives a standing ovation.

A puppet or a leader?

Since the School Committee has asked for community input in hiring Andover's next superintendent of schools, we would like to ask: Does this community want a superintendent who rubber-stamps what the School Committee says, or do we want a superintendent who can think on his own and provide some educational leadership for Andover?

In other words, do we want a puppet or a leader?

We say let's hire a leader, not a puppet. And we believe that at this time Richard Neal, acting superintendent, is not the man for the job. The problem is, even if Mr. Neal is the best candidate, there is an appearance that he is tied in with the controversial resignation of Sam Campbell, principal of West Middle School.

The community has lost faith in this School Committee, especially with the chairwoman, who is having difficulty listening to residents. Tuesday's School Committee meeting was a show of complete loss of confidence by the public. Those in the audience were, at times, as rude as Committee Chairwoman Susan Dalton. The audience spoke out of turn, so afraid were they that Ms. Dalton wouldn't let them be heard. And she, in turn, tried to cut off discussion every chance she got.

What's this all about? It's about Sam Campbell's resignation and it's about the fact that residents are afraid the School Committee will elect Mr. Neal, in a 3-2 vote. Residents no longer trust the committee nor Mr. Neal because neither are forthcoming with answers to their questions.

What Andover needs now is new blood to run its schools. We urge the School Committee not to take its vote Sunday. We ask the committee to set its "healing" meeting to discuss Dr. Campbell's resignation before the committee elects a new superintendent.

The only way the public would regain confidence in the School Committee would be for the committee to listen to residents and parents and to hire someone completely new to run the schools.

Angry and frustrated by Sam Campbell's resignation

Editor, Townsmen:

I am a sixth-grader at West Middle School and I am writing this letter because I am angry and frustrated by Dr. Campbell's resignation.

A lot of my friends and I want to know why he is leaving. I am also disappointed. I really like Dr. Campbell and I would like him to stay. He treats us like people, not just children, and he believes our ideas have value. He always listens and he really cares.

So, why is he leaving? I have heard a lot of rumors but I don't know the truth. Dr. Campbell is our principal and we would like to know why he has to leave. We care about our school and we hope somebody cares enough about us to tell us what is going on.

Financial solution for Andover's schools

Editor, Townsmen:

For six years I have lived in Andover. For six years the schools have had financial problems. Six years ago this letter should have been written.

Enjoying spring in the AVIS woodlands

By Marta Hornidge

Spring is well on its merry way. Once again, Andover is alive with color. Forsythia seems even more radiantly yellow this April, a sunny reminder of the season. Spring bulbs are flowering in cheerful colors, purple, pink, blue, a luminous white and still more yellow.

While AVIS (Andover Village Improvement Society) woods cannot compete with the brilliance of Andover gardens, more subtle spring reminders are in the woods as well. Skunk cabbage is far enough advanced to begin to lose the extra growth that appears before the leaves have grown tall. By looking carefully at the base of a just-emerging plant, you can see a reddish-purple growth looking gnome-like with a twisted cap as it wraps around a hidden yellow seed pod appearing to protect it from harm. Most of these growths are black and squishy as their time is over. I picked one of the younger specimens to discover an odor more garlicky than skunk but

The solution was to have a percentage of each new home built deposited into a special new building account to be used for that purpose only and I stress for that purpose only.

Maybe with all the huge, expensive homes being built in Andover, we could consider implementing this plan.

Use your sense of humor, lighten up

Editor, Townsmen:

Attached is a Gary Larson cartoon. I don't know the legality of printing this in the Townsmen; however, it might help us Andoverites "lighten up" about the weighty issues we face at a Town Meeting. In fact, humor may allow us find new solutions, like the dog owner in the cartoon.

John Zielin
96 Elm St.

[Editor's note: The cartoon shows a policeman leaning into the passenger side of a car, speaking to a man, while a dog is behind the wheel. The man says, "Hey, I'm not crazy ... Sure, I let him drive once in a while, but he's never, never off this leash, even for a second."]

This writer likes the train whistles

Editor, Townsmen:

As a 10-year-old hearing the train whistle all my life, it would be a sad thing for me if it would go. I listen to it when I go to sleep, it calms me down so I can go to sleep. My whole family loves the train whistle. My mom says, "I'm really going to miss that sound" whenever she hears it.

One of my best friends hates it because she is near the station and when the train whistle goes off. I also live near too, but maybe the train whistle sounds different to different people. When I heard that they might take away the train whistle, I said, "Why are they doing it?" Now when I hear it I think in my brain "good-bye."

Dick Neal's the best man for the job

Editor, Townsmen:

"If it's not broken don't fix it." "Practice makes perfect." Two very old but true clichés to keep in mind in choosing Andover's new superintendent of schools.

Guest Column

the color, shape and hidden qualities of this early plant were interesting and strangely beautiful enough to be a candidate for a Georgia O'Keefe study.

Goldsmith Woodlands is already carpeted green with the beginning growth of lady slippers and false lilies of the valley. The Skug River property is noisy with the raucous honking of geese. One pair paraded up and down the river announcing the laying of an egg near the edge of the stream, too close to the path. The female was not sitting on her egg, neglecting her duty, while her mate scolded nervously.

To prepare for an AVIS nature trail booklet, members of the Trail Committee are walking the AVIS Indian Ridge and West Parish Meadow reservations, noting spring changes. Anyone interested in joining this project can call chairwoman Liz Tentarelli at 470-2520.

The pussy willows growing along the West Parish boardwalk are already going to seed, peepers in the ponds are quieter and the red-winged blackbird males have located their nesting areas and are readying their nests for their female partners.

A kayak paddle up the Shawsheen River near the Sanborn Reservation, AVIS' only property reached by water, was recently alive with spring beginnings. A pair of hawks (Harris hawks, we were told) circled us repeatedly. Were we too close to their high nesting area in the tall trees? A pair of blue herons kept landing near us and then flying farther along to greet us again. Baby

Get on with it: Hire Dick Neal

Upon the departure of our assistant superintendent of schools not long ago, Dick Neal was selected to fill the vacancy. Subsequently the superintendent left. Mr. Neal was then upgraded to acting superintendent. He assumed this role and guided the implementation of the $40 million school building and expansion program. His knowledge, perception and wisdom, from years of experience and service to our community no doubt, was extremely helpful through the transition.

Many former students of his who are now living in Andover as adults can attest to Mr. Neal's great leadership and organizational skills. This was evidenced by years of commitment to Andover's youth hockey and baseball programs. He is dedicated to building character in youth, along with knowledge and a belief in educating the whole individual.

Dick Neal is a goal-setter who comes to this job with enthusiasm. He is prepared for the challenge. If the past is prologue to the future, let's get on with the job with the best qualified man - Dick Neal.

ducks and goslings were paddling along after their mothers, while another goose, more dutiful than the one on the Skug, watched us intently as she faithfully sat on her eggs on a nest made of grass tufts in the middle of the river.

AVIS properties, about 28 in all, are open and free for the public to enjoy and now, before the miserable onslaught of black flies and mosquitoes, is the perfect time to visit. AVIS maps and the trail book are available at Moor and Mountain camping store and the Andover Bookstore, but a spring wander through the properties without guides is perfectly possible as the trails are well marked and maintained by wardens.

The celebrations marking AVIS Centennial Year last year helped to increase AVIS membership, now standing at about 1,292 members, an increase of about 500 members. At the annual March AVIS dinner, trustees voted in a new trustee, Jane Gossard, to complete the board of 15 members. The officers of the organization are Nat Smith, president; Peggy Keck, vice president; Kay Berthold Frishman, secretary; and Donald Sagaser, treasurer.

As new housing in Andover continues to intrude on open areas, the importance of having woodlands, fields and wetlands available for the public and for wild creatures to enjoy increases. AVIS is dedicated and ever alert to acquiring new properties and caring for the old acquisitions. Without conservation-oriented organizations, of which AVIS is one, Andover would be a far less desirable community.

Understanding
Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

AN AGE-OLD TRADITION

The art of spinal manipulation is steeped in a tradition that reaches at least as far back as to the days of ancient China and Greece. Each of these cultures employed techniques for manipulating the spine and extremities for the relief of muscle aches and stiff joints. Later, during the Middle Ages, knowledge of the art of bone-setting was passed from generation to generation. On our own continent, native Americans encouraged young children to walk barefoot on the backs of those experiencing back problems. When viewed against this backdrop, the practice of chiropractic can be seen to be the latest in the long line of accepted therapies of spine manipulation. As chiropractors celebrate chiropractic's centennial year of 1995, they comprise the third largest group of health-care practitioners in America (after physicians and dentists).

During May, "Older Americans Month," DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP would like to stress that there is no "age" for which experienced chiropractic care cannot be beneficial. Nothing is more important than your good health. As a patient in our office, located at 15 Central Street, you are assured of the best possible, gentle, chiropractic care. Please call 475-5042 to schedule an appointment. Don't suffer needlessly - help is just a telephone call away.

P.S. Americans make some 15 to 20 million visits to the nation's 50,000 chiropractors annually.

Volleyball dominates the North Alliance, 5-0

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys volleyball team, bidding for its fifth North Alliance title in seven years, remained undefeated with recent 2-0 victories over non-league Cambridge Rindge & Latin and league opponent Dracut, as well as a come-from-behind 2-1 triumph against Boston-based J.D. O'Bryant.

Those wins improved Coach George Sullivan's dominant netmen to 8-0 overall, including 5-0 atop the North Alliance, entering a key match yesterday with second place Methuen (7-2 overall, 5-1 league).

A match last week against league opponent St. John's Prep was postponed, because of a conflict with the SJP prom, and the tentative makeup date is Thursday, May 11 in Danvers.

AHS is now an impressive 88-29 overall since the inception of the boys volleyball program in 1989.

The North Alliance standings entering this week had Andover at 5-0, Methuen 5-1, Chelmsford 4-2, Billerica 3-2, St. John's Prep 2-3, Lowell 3-4, Dracut 1-5 and Westford 0-6.

Andover hosts first-year team Westford Academy tomorrow in a league match, while non-league Algonquin Regional of Northboro invades the Dunn Gym next Monday afternoon (3:30 p.m.).

Statistics

Top Andover servers through the first seven matches were Aaryn Schmuhi (96 percent), Paul Krasnoo (94 percent, 54-for-57), Sean Croteau (94 percent), Tim Foley (91 percent, 55-for-60, nine aces), and Pat Hess (90 percent).

The leading hitters were Matt Gibson (95 percent, 65-for-68), Foley (89 percent, 79-for-88), Croteau (84 percent, 53-for-63) and Joe Hogarty (73 percent (32-for-44).

Andover 2 J.D. O'Bryant 1

The Golden Warriors hadn't played in five days, because of the St. John's Prep postponement, and the rustiness showed.

Andover lost the first game, 13-15, before rallying to beat the host team 15-10 and 15-11. All three games followed a similar pattern. Andover jumped ahead early, but then slumped and fell behind. In the third and deciding game the locals trailed 10-6 before rattling off eight straight points to grab a 14-10 lead.

Tim Foley finished with 14 kills and 11-for-11 serving in the match, while Sean Croteau added five kills, 17 good hits, 12-for-12 serving and strong defense.

Matt Gibson contributed nine kills, Aaryn Schmuhi was 15-for-15 serving with one ace, Abdul Ortiz 10-for-10 serving with one ace, and Pat Hess 13-for-14 serving with one ace. Andover hurt itself with 11 serve-receive errors.

Andover 2 Dracut 0

First-year team Dracut offered little resistance as the Middies, 1-5 league and 2-6 overall, fell 15-2 and 15-3.

"The statistics were all spread out because everyone played alot," said coach Sullivan. "Tim Foley and Sean Croteau even sat down for most of the second game."

Aaryn Schmuhi was the top scorer with 10 service points.

Track teams earn medals at state relays

By Rick Harrison

The host Andover High boys and girls track teams both turned in impressive performances at the annual State Class B Relays last weekend, the girls placing second to Reading and the boys finishing third behind Central Catholic and Reading in the team standings.

In dual meet action, both AHS boys and girls squads remained undefeated last week with Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division victories over Lowell High at Cawley Stadium in Lowell.

The boys were stretched to the limit for the second straight meet before securing a 76-64 triumph, while the girls coasted to an 89-47 win.

Head coach Dick Collins' two squads both improved to 4-0-0 overall and 2-0-0 in the division.

The AHS boys are tied for first place in the division with Central Catholic, and the title will probably be on the line when those two collide next Wednesday at Veterans Stadium in Lawrence (3:30 p.m.).

The defending champion AHS girls are deadlocked atop the standings with Haverhill, and that championship is likely to be decided in the dual meet finale for both schools on Wednesday, May 17 at Lovely Field.

Andover competed against Chelmsford yesterday, hosts intra-town archrival Phillips Academy on Saturday (2 p.m.), and next Saturday the 36th annual Andover Boosters Invitational is scheduled at Lovely Field (10 a.m. start).

State Class B Relays

The Lady Warriors placed in 11 of the 18 events, winning three, as they piled up 63 points to trail only champion Reading (76). North Attleboro was a distant third with 46 points.

Sparking the effort was a State Class B record in the triple jump relay, with junior Missy Famiglietti's school record tying leap of 36'3 3/4" leading Andover to first place.

The team total was 104'5 1/4," eclipsing the old Class B mark by 19 inches, as Eveline Yang added a 34'7" leap and Allyson Ahern had a best jump of 34'6 1/2."

Famiglietti equalled the eight-year-old AHS record established by Nicole Demaso in 1987. Another Andover victory came from the 4x100 meter sprint relay quartet of Randi Spiegel, Amy Levesque, Laura Burkle and Barbara Contos (51.3).

Earning the final first place was the long jump trio of Famiglietti (17' 1/2"), Yang (16' 1/2") and Amy Baker (15'9") who combined for a distance of 49 feet.

The Lady Warriors also had four third-place finishes from the distance medley foursome of Kolleen Cronin, Julie Rozopoulos, sophomore Abby Clarke and Susan Ashlock (13:34.5), the javelin trio of Katie Jurdi (94'0"), Leah Mason (89'9") and Beth Cummins (89'7") with a combined distance of 273'5", shot putters Kim Daher (34'7"), Sue Tully (29'7 1/2") and Beth Cummins (27'11 1/2") with a total of 92'2", and the shuttle hurdles crew of Rozopoulos, Courtney Barron, Sarah Muller and Barbara Contos (three freshmen) in 74.8.

The 4x200 meter sprint squad of Spiegel, Burkle, Levesque and Barron finished fourth (1:54.2).

Fifth places went to high jumpers Amanda Verreault, Stephanie Brown and Sarah Muller, all of whom cleared 4'9" for a total height of 14'3", and the 4x1 mile team of Megan Roth, Erin Collins, Clarke and Ashlock (23:29.0).

The discus trio of Jurdi (87'2"), Christine Contos (85'1") and Mason (72'8") placed sixth with a composite distance of 244'11."

The Andover boys scored in eight events, also winning three, en route to their 47 points. Central was a runaway champ with 98 points.

Pole vaulters Dan Taylor (12'6"), Peter Ellis (11'6") and Tim Dolan (10'0") combined for a height of 34 feet en route to first place.

The long jumpers were also victorious with a distance of 62'10 1/2," with Mike Marcionis soaring 21'8," Adam Westaway 20'8 1/2" and Scott Savage 20'6."

The third triumph came from the shuttle hurdles quartet of Eric DeMarco, Mike Shaughnessy, Ellis and Savage (63.9).

The sprint medley relay team of Jon Hall, Josh Hatch, Jeff Arsenault and Matt Ely finished third (3:46.5).

A pair of fourth places were garnered by triple jumpers Westaway (40'11"), Savage (40'6 3/4") and Chris Mann (37'0"), who combined for a distance of 118'5 3/4," and the high jump trio of Hall (6'3"), Ely (5'6") and Chris Richter (5'6") who cleared 173."

Shot putters Steve Muench (44'0"), Jon Blais (40'9 3/4") and Andy Lynch (40'0") finished fifth with a distance of 124'9 3/4," and sixth place went to the 4x400 meter crew of Chris Fromme, Manfred Caranci, Mark Adams and Kevin Shepard (3:43.5).

Andover girls 89
Lowell 47

A decisive 43-11 edge in the six field events made this an easy victory for the Lady Warriors, who have yet to be seriously challenged this spring.

Andover placed first in 10 of the 16 events, sweeping the long jump, javelin, triple jump and two-mile, and had double individual wins by junior Missy Famiglietti and senior Kim Daher.

Famiglietti dominated the jumping events once again, placing first in the long jump (15'8") and triple jump (33'1 1/2"), while Daher tossed the shot a personal-best 34'11 1/2" and added a winning 86'11" throw in the javelin.

Other individual winners were freshman Courtney Barron (100-meter high hurdles, 17.9), junior Laura Burkle (100 meter dash, 13.2), senior Captain Amy Levesque (200 meters, 26.6), junior miler Susan Ashlock (5:22.8) and junior two-miler Erin Collins (12:48.0).

The AHS 4x100 meter sprint relay team of Randi Spiegel, Levesque, Burkle and freshman Beth Harr was also victorious (52.7).

Completing the sweeps were senior Captain Eveline Yang and senior Amy Baker in the long jump, seniors Leah Mason and Beth Cummins in the javelin, junior Allyson Ahern and Yang in the triple jump, and two-milers Catherine Blais and Diana Liberty.

Other runners-up were sophomore shot putter Sue Tully, junior Katie Jurdi (discus), freshman high jumper Sarah Muller, Courtney Barron (300-meter intermediate hurdles), Spiegel (100 meters) and Liz Salvia (200 meters).

Additional third place finishes went to Christine Contos (discus), high jumper Courtney Barron, senior Amanda Verreault (400 meters), sophomore Kolleen Cronin (800 meters) and miler Megan Roth.

Andover boys 76
Lowell 64

In a showdown of previously-undefeated teams, Andover took fewer first places (seven to Lowell's nine) but made up the difference with 11 second places, a crucial sweep of the long jump and a key triumph in the 4x100 meter sprint relay.

Lowell (3-1-0) managed a slim 34-29 edge in the seven field events, but Andover outscored the Red Raiders 47-30 in the nine running events contested.

Captain Jon Hall was a double winner in the high jump (6'2") and 400-meter dash (53.1). Other individual first places were secured by senior long jumper Mike Marcionis (19'9"), hurdlers Scott Savage (110-meter highs, 15.5) and junior Eric DeMarco (300-meter intermediates, 42.8), and Captain Matt Ely in the 800 meter run (2:04.2).

The victorious 4x100 meter sprint quartet consisted of Matt Aufiero, senior Jeff Arsenault, junior Josh Hatch and anchorman Marcionis (45.5).

Completing the sweep of the long jump were Savage and junior Adam Westaway, while Westaway also grabbed second place in the triple jump.

Other runners-up were senior shot putter Steve Muench, Jon Blais (discus), junior pole vaulter Dan Taylor, junior Chris Richter (300-meter hurdles), Arsenault (100 meters), Hatch (200 meters), senior Captain Kevin Shepard (400 meters), junior miler Charlie Russo and senior two-miler Eskinder Graham.

Great pitching by Langone extends winning streak to 5

By Rick Harrison

Two exceptional pitching performances by junior righthander Mark Langone helped the Andover High varsity baseball team extend its winning streak through five games earlier this week.

Langone, mixing a sharp-breaking curve and fastball effectively, pitched 11 innings of shutout ball in victories over Dracut and Tewksbury.

His four overpowering innings of relief against Dracut keyed a come-from-behind 5-2 victory, as he registered 11 strikeouts while yielding only two singles. He didn't walk a batter.

On Monday Langone (3-0) came back with a complete-game two-hit shutout against stubborn Tewksbury. Two scratch infield singles prevented him from firing a no-hitter, as he fanned six and once again did not walk a batter in the Golden Warriors' impressive 2-0 triumph.

In between those two games, Coach Ken Maglio's crew hung on in the final inning to escape with a wild 11-10 victory over fast-finishing Chelmsford.

The seventh inning was the focus in two of the latest victories.

In the win over surprisingly-stubborn Dracut, which hasn't beaten Andover since 1985, it took two-out RBI hits by Dana DiFiore and Brian Tisbert in the top of the seventh to break a 2-2 deadlock and lift the Golden Warriors to the triumph.

In the decision over Chelmsford, the locals carried a seemingly secure 11-4 lead into the seventh before the visitors rallied for six runs to make it exciting.

It took a dramatic and perfectly-executed relay from left fielder Mike Maguire to third baseman Langone to catcher Pete Daniels, who stoically blocked the plate, to nail the Lions' Scott Brown trying to score the tying run on a two-out double by Lou DiStasi. The clutch defensive play was the final out of the game.

Junior outfielder Dana McCann shared top billing in this one by driving home four runs with a long homer and triple.

Andover entered yesterday's home game against Lowell in a four-team dogfight for supremacy of the Merrimack Valley Conference's Large School Division.

Lowell was tops with a 5-0 league record, while Andover and Haverhill were a half-game back at 5-1 and Central Catholic fourth at 4-2.

The Golden Warriors (6-2 overall) hosted

Tennis teams court Merrimack Valley championships with perfect records

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys and girls tennis teams both took a giant step toward yet another Merrimack Valley Conference championship, winning their twin showdowns with previously-undefeated Chelmsford earlier this week at the AHS courts.

Both the AHS and Chelmsford boys and girls squads entered the matches with identical 5-0 records, tied atop the MVC standings, and now both Warrior squads stand alone in first place.

The Andover boys captured their sixth straight 5-0 victory, while the girls handled Chelmsford 4-1.

In other recent action, both Andover teams swept past Billerica 5-0.

Scheduled matches against Lawrence were postponed by rain.

Coach Tony Russo's Lady Warriors have now stretched their incredible win streak through 71 straight league matches, while improving to a remarkable 144-1 in their last 145 MVC matches and 156-9 in their last 165 including non-league and tournament play.

Coach Mike Wartman's Andover boys are 161-9 in their last 170 league matches and 187-21 in their last 208 overall.

The Andover girls are seeking their sixth straight MVC title, and eighth in 10 years, while the boys are chasing a third consecutive championship and their 10th in 12 seasons.

The locals were listed to play at Lowell yesterday, and tomorrow the boys have another key battle versus once-beaten Central Catholic at the AHS courts (3:30 p.m.).

Andover girls

Undefeated sophomore No. 1 Heather Young got the Lady Warriors off and running against Chelmsford with a 6-1, 6-0 domination of Jen Cyrkler.

Freshman Lauren Roda also handled the Lions' Robynne DeCaprio in straight sets, 6-1 and 6-2, at third singles.

Doubles action produced a match-clinching AHS sweep, with senior Jackie LeMaitre and junior Andrea Marvin topping Kaley MacDonald and Chrissi Crow 6-3, 6-2 and the tandem of senior Captain Kelly Mitchell and junior Meghan Pauley posting a symmetrical 6-2, 6-2 victory over Chelmsford's Erin Walsh and Anjali Ramachandran.

Senior Captain Jen Griffin battled hard at second singles before dropping a 4-6, 4-6 decision to the Lions' Jen Waber.

The Lady Warriors also registered their fourth 5-0 sweep of the season, once again winning everything in straight sets en route to the triumph over Billerica (2-3).

Heather Young remained invincible with a 6-0, 6-0 cruise past the Indians' over-matched Tina Carrabba.

Jen Griffin rolled 6-2, 6-2 at second singles, and freshman Lauren Roda was solid at third singles with a 6-2, 6-0 romp.

The No. 1 doubles tandem of Jackie

LeMaitre and Andrea Marvin remained in sync with a 6-2, 6-2 triumph, while Kelly Mitchell and Meghan Pauley teamed at second doubles and rolled by the identical 6-2, 6-2 score.

Andover boys

Billerica was totally dominated by the youthful Golden Warriors (two seniors), who lost a mere three of 63 games in 10 sets.

Junior Captain Kurt Dahlstrand remained perfect with a 6-0, 6-1 dispatch of the Indians' Brian Matheson at No. 1.

Sophomore Ross Fenton and junior Jay Levine were even stinger at second and third singles, each blitzing his opponent 6-0, 6-0.

Juniors Ravi Tharisiy and Andy Ravens returned to doubles and paired for a 6-0, 6-1 romp over Dave Nardone and Rob Severo of BMHS at No. 1.

Sophomore Dave Sullivan and freshman Dave Gutstein teamed at second doubles and rolled to victory by a 6-0, 6-1 score.

Lowell (8-1 overall) in a crucial game yesterday, travel to Billerica (3-7) tomorrow afternoon, and battle Central Catholic (8-2) in another pivotal contest on Monday afternoon at Merrimack College. All games start at 3:30 p.m.

Andover 2 Tewksbury 0

The Golden Warriors notched single runs in the first and second innings, and let Mark Langone do the rest.

Sophomore Brian Tisbert drew a leadoff walk in the bottom of the first stanza against Redmen tough-luck loser Brian Morris. He moved to second on an infield out and scored on Captain Tom Gardner's two-out single.

The insurance run in the second came when Dana DiFiore laced a two-out single. Pete Daniels drilled a double down the left field line, and DiFiore scored when Morris uncorked a wild pitch high off the catcher's mitt.

Tewksbury's most serious threat came in the sixth, when Langone hit two batters (Mike McVicar and Tim Lavoie).

However, AHS shortstop Tisbert short-circuited the potential rally with a diving, fully-extended catch of a line drive up the middle by pinch-hitter Eric McClafferty.

DiFiore finished the game 2-for-3, while Tom Tanin and Dana McCann added singles.

Daniels was robbed of a second hit on a shootout catch by Tewksbury center fielder Mark Petros.

In addition to his diving catch, Tisbert also started a textbook 6-4-3 double play that was completed by Tanin and Gardner.

Petros and Derek Heald had the scratch singles for the Redmen. Morris pitched a route-going six-hitter with four strikeouts and three walks.

Andover 11 Chelmsford 10

The Golden Warriors trailed 3-0 in the second and 4-2 in the fifth inning, but rallied for five runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth to take an 11-4 lead.

Big righthander Tom Clarke (3-2) was the starter and nailed down the pitching victory with five strong innings of three-hit ball. He walked two, fanned three and the four runs he surrendered were all unearned.

Freshman reliever Jason Caverly struggled as he tried to protect the lead in the late innings. Sophomore Brian Tisbert was credited with the save because he was on the mound when the tying run was gunned down at home to end the game.

The locals chipped away for two runs in the second stanza when Pete Daniels ripped a long leadoff double to left field, Tisbert walked, Tom Tanin laced a one-out RBI single to left, and Tom Gardner rescued Tisbert with a sacrifice fly.

Trailing 4-2 in the fifth, Andover put the tying runs in scoring position when Tisbert singled, Captain Mike Maguire walked, and Tanin laid down a sacrifice bunt. Tisbert raced across on a wild pitch, Gardner walked, and Jason Caverly tied the game with a double that plated Maguire.

Dana McCann followed with a towering three-run homer to left field, his first roundtripper of the spring giving Andover a 7-4 lead.

What appeared to be four insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth turned out to be the difference.

Tanin walked, advanced on a balk, and scored when Gardner slashed a single up the middle. Caverly and McCann then hammered back-to-back RBI triples to right field, Roberts walked, and pinch-hitter Dana DiFiore's infield out rescued McCann with the eventual winning run.

Chelmsford's six-run seventh was highlighted by a pair of two-run triples from Rick Sacchetti and sophomore Brendan Trainor, and an RBI single by speedster Scott Brown. It was Brown, however, that was nailed at the plate by the Maguire-Langone-Daniels connection as he tried to score on Lou DiStasi's pinch-hit double.

Caverly, McCann and DH Nate Roberts paced the 10-hit attack with two safeties each while Tisbert, Gardner, Caverly and McCann scored two runs apiece.

It marked the third time in seven games that Andover had scored in double figures.

Andover 5 Dracut 2

Mark Langone's brilliant relief stint kept the host Middies off the board after they had taken an early 2-0 lead.

Dracut nicked senior lefthander Cris Brown for single runs in the second and third innings, the first on back-to-back doubles by Dave Harne and Sean Quealy and the second on a walk, passed ball and wild pitch.

Brown yielded only two hits and fanned two while working three innings, but he struggled with his control before giving way to Langone.

Langone, using the curve as his out pitch on the majority of batters, surrendered only two scratch singles, didn't issue a walk and struck out 11.

The Golden Warriors tied it 2-2 in the fourth when Mike Maguire singled, Tom Gardner rapped an RBI double and Jason Caverly laced a run-scoring single.

In the seventh Caverly walked, sophomore Ryan Games reached on a fielder's choice but that erased Caverly at second, and Langone slapped a two-out single.

Pinch-hitter Dana DiFiore beat out an infield hit, with Games scoring the go-ahead run on a throwing error, and Brian Tisbert drilled a two-run double scoring Langone and DiFiore for insurance.

Langone handled Dracut easily in the bottom of the seventh. Spanking one hit each were Tisbert, Maguire, Gardner, Caverly, Nate Roberts, Langone and DiFiore.

AHS softball team stuns Chelmsford with 3-2 upset

By Rick Harrison

A strong four-hit pitching performance by freshman Lynne Mazza in her varsity debut as a starter, and a clutch fifth-inning RBI single by Captain Eileen Sweeney, enabled the Andover High softball team to pull off the biggest upset of the 1995 Merrimack Valley Conference season this past Monday afternoon at the West Middle School field.

Coach Ken Pellerin's Lady Warriors stunned visiting Chelmsford, 3-2, knocking off a Lions team that entered the game with a 6-1 record and ranked No. 2 in the latest Eastern Massachusetts coaches poll.

The much-needed victory came just when it looked like tough luck, ranging from closes losses to crucial injuries, would stalk the AHS squad all season.

"We really needed this win," said coach Pellerin. "We kept plugging away and hoping for some breaks. And finally, against Chelmsford, all the balls went where they should for us. I thought it was all a cruel hoax. But things continued to go our way and the girls got a win they really earned and deserved."

The uplifting upset followed an agonizing 4-3 defeat Billerica, and a 17-3 loss to Lawrence marred by an injury to No. 1 pitcher Vanessa Blank.

Vanessa, and her younger sister Noelle, were both injury victims last week.

Junior pitcher Vanessa was struck in the face by a line drive that deflected off her glove early in the game against Lawrence, while freshman pitcher-outfielder Noelle sustained a broken finger on her glove hand during a recent practice.

"When the liner hit Vanessa we thought she might have a shattered cheekbone and a few loose teeth," said coach Pellerin. "Fortunately nothing was broken, but she's been wearing a shiner (blackened eye) for the past week."

Miraculously, Vanessa did not miss any action. By Monday's Chelmsford game, although there was still some discoloration around the eye, the swelling had subsided and Vanessa moved over to play first base while Mazza pitched.

Blank warmed up on the sidelines throughout the game, and eventually came on to record the save by getting the final out in the top of the seventh. She also had a pair of singles at the plate.

The locals' record, 2-7 entering yesterday's game, is deceptive because six of the losses have come by four or fewer runs.

Andover returned to action yesterday at Lowell (also 2-7).

Top hitters

Elaine Licata continues to hit consistently with a .333 average through nine games. She is 8-for-24 and has hit safely in all but two games.

Michelle Crispo is batting a lofty .438 on 7-for-16.

Andover 3 Chelmsford 2

The Lady Warriors beat one of the state's top pitchers, Theresa Daley, who yielded seven hits while fanning eight and walking no one.

Lynne Mazza countered with her four-hitter, walking six and whiffing two, and the Lady Warriors made 19 fielding plays and only one error behind her.

After spotting Chelmsford a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, Andover scored twice in the home half.

Sue Cookson reached on a one-out error, Eileen Sweeney was hit by a pitch, and Vanessa Blank blooped a single to right field with Cookson scoring the tying run on a throwing error.

Sweeney raced across moments later with the go-ahead run on a passed ball.

The Lions tied it 2-2 in the fifth, but again Andover retaliated immediately.

Junior third baseman Elaine Licata rapped a one-out single in the bottom of the inning, Cookson beat out a bunt, and Sweeney produced the game-winning slap single to center field after squaring around and faking a bunt.

Blank followed with a single to center, but Kelly Myers' one-hop strike to the plate cut down the runner trying to score on a very close play.

Michelle Crispo beat out a bunt single for the Lady Warriors' fifth hit of the inning, loading the bases, but a tapper back to the mound prevented further damage.

Chelmsford threatened in the sixth, putting runners at second and third with two outs.

Pinch-hitter Julie McCusker then drilled a 2-2 pitch on a line towards left field, but Captain Aprille Canniff caught the shot in the webbing of her glove to end the inning and save at least one run. Canniff, who has played catcher most of the season, moved to shortstop in this game.

Sweeney took over behind the plate.

Chelmsford's first two outs in the seventh were on hard hit balls, and when Myers followed with a single Vanessa Blank was summoned in relief of Mazza.

She nailed down the victory on a ground ball out from shortstop Canniff to sophomore Jen Murnane, who had replaced Blank at first base.

Crispo and Blank finished the game with two hits each, while Canniff and catcher Sweeney were defensive standouts.

Kristin Elmore, a fifth-grade student at Bancroft School, recently became the Massachusetts Level 9 State champion. The daughter of Marilyn and Jeff Elmore competes in the children's division (ages 9-11) with the organization of USA Gymnastics.

The USAG governs the sport of gymnastics in private clubs throughout the United States. Levels range from 1 through 10 and to the Elite-Olympic program.

Kristin Elmore

Kristin qualified through the required local meets to go on to sectional meets where Level 9 gymnasts must score an all-around of 32 or better to move on to the state championships. This score also qualified Kristin, as state champion, to advance to the Level 9 regionals in Long Island the end of April.

At the state championships, Kristin captured the gold medal in the all-around and on vault, uneven parallel bars and the balance beam, and a silver medal on floor exercise. She scored one of her highest all-around scores which enables her to move to regionals where she will be one of only two in her age division to represent Massachusetts.

Kristin has competed throughout the United States in several club invitations. Her most recent trip was to the Gymcarolina Classic in North Carolina where she competed with 50 in her age group and took a seventh-place all-around.

Kristin has also scored high enough to move into the Level 10 program next season. Her training schedule takes her to the gym five days a week, four hours a day. She is a team member of Northeast Gymnastics Center in Wilmington.

Megan Miller of Andover, a goalkeeper with the Colby-Sawyer College lacrosse team, made 15 saves to pick up her second win of the season recently.

Richard Sheldon, 13, of 65 Cross St., has been selected as a member of the 13-year-old division of the New England Mariners, AAU/Jr. Olympic Baseball Club. The New England Mariners offers high level instruction and competition at the amateur level and is a supplemental program to local Little League, Senior League, Babe Ruth, Pony League and American Legion baseball.

Richard, son of David and Diane Sheldon, is a seventh-grade honor-roll student at West Middle school. He plays in the 13-year-old division in Andover Little League and in Andover town football and Church League Basketball and is a Boy Scout in Troop 79.

The lefty pitcher and first baseman was selected from a field of more than 50 participants in nine separate try-out sessions from throughout New England during March. The 13-year-old team of 18 players from Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts is coached by Bill Sirolis of Methuen.

Heidi Cline and Mike Sullivan, 1994 graduates of Phillips Academy and Andover residents, have both made varsity athletic teams during their first year at Amherst College.

Heidi Cline, who played on the 1993-'94 PA championship field hockey and lacrosse teams, played varsity field hockey this past fall and is currently playing second home (offense) for the Lady Jeffs varsity lacrosse team. She has scored 17 goals and has assisted three times in the team's 7-3 season so far this spring. Heidi is the team's second highest scorer. Amherst's remaining games are against Trinity and Williams and they looking forward to an ECAC bid.

Mike Sullivan, also a top varsity athlete and two-sport captain at PA, played soccer in the fall and this spring is a starting outfielder for the Lord Jeffs baseball team. He just had a 17 game hitting streak, leads the team in RBIs and is batting in the mid 300s.

Alexander Ortstein, a kindergarten student at Bancroft School, competed in the first annual Kwon Kid-vitational Taekwon-do Championship recently at Hanscom Air Force Base. One hundred children, ages 5-16, from Taekwondo schools in Massachusetts and New Hampshire competed in poomse (traditional forms), breaking and sparring based on their age and rank.

Alexander, son of Laurie Ortstein, of High Street, competed in the green/blue belt division for boys 6 and under. He won first place in poomse and second place in sparring. He also won first place in breaking, using a hammer-hand technique and a jumping side kick to successfully break 1/2" pine boards.

Hurricanes capture under-8 championship at district races

The Andover/North Andover YMCA Hurricanes Class E (age 8 and under) girls captured the Eastern Y District championship recently.

Paced by an 8-year-old Andover girl with less than two years' competitive swimming experience, the ANA Hurricanes of the Andover/North Andover YMCA put on a strong showing at the New England YMCA regional swimming championships last month at Brown University.

Leading the Class E (age 8 and under) girls was Amy Caron of Bannister Road, who finished first in 25-yard backstroke and 25-yard breaststroke and placed seventh in 100-yard individual medley. Caron began her competitive swimming career 18 months ago, when she joined the Hurricanes as an activity in the Y's child-care program.

The Hurricanes Class E girls have been reliable winners in eastern Massachusetts YMCA meets this season, finishing up as Eastern Y District champions at a meet in Brockton in February.

Caron broke decade-old records in 25-yard breast and 25-yard back, in times of 18.61 and 16.96, respectively.

Pee Wee E team earns 6-1 victory

Strong defense, heads-up goaltending and a relentless offense carried the Andover Pee Wee E team to a 6-1 win over Burlington at Hockeytown in Saugus recently.

Dustin Shea had a hat trick and one assist, Josh Brown had a goal and two assists (he had scored a hat trick the day before) and John Canavan and Dom Palumbo each scored one goal.

Anthony Rooney turned back three breakaways and numerous point-blank shots. The defense limited Burlington to 15 shots and each defenseman assisted on a goal. Canavan and Nate Stoetzel were paired while Steve Comeau and Brooke Halsey were teamed. Justin Murray, nursing an ankle injury, played a great game.

Greg Pease assisted on two goals and the Peease, Brown and Shea line was hot all day. Chris Hummer and Sean Toland assisted on Palumbo's goal with 52 seconds left. Each line played their positions well, putting 31 shots on net. Bob Rooney is the coach.

Squirt A squad grabs 3 wins

Great team play and 100-percent effort by every Squirt A player gave them to three wins in one week recently.

Andover 3 - Medford 2
 Mike Lanciani gave Andover a quick start against Medford with a score off a Tucker Prudden setup. This was followed quickly by a powerplay goal by defenseman Doug Johnson who scored off a relay by M.C. Corey. Despite excellent backchecking by Tim Legrow and Zander Davis, Medford managed a late first-period goal and an early second-period goal to tie the game. Jonathan Swift took advantage and scored an unassisted powerplay goal halfway through the final period to put Andover permanently ahead 3-2.

Owner John Clifford
Clifford Jewelers

Whether you prefer the classic or contemporary types of jewelry, a custom made piece or renovation of a family heirloom, Clifford Jewelers owner John Clifford and manager Jean Foley are available to assist you in choosing that important gift.

Clifford Jewelers has a wide selection of appropriate gifts for Mother's Day, graduation, the bride and her attendants.

John Clifford creates outstanding and unique custom work. You may view one-of-a-kind pieces he has created, or make an appointment to design your own. Many rings, bracelets, pendants and earrings are exclusively created for the store by him and are available for your individual taste. He is also skilled at repairing heirloom jewelry.

Customers may bring in used gold (broken chains, ring settings, etc.) and John will design, at considerable savings, a jewelry piece that will be wearable. This preserves the sentimental value, since the same gold is used.

Gold and stone jewelry, sterling silver, pearls, a line of scarab jewelry, children's pieces and pewter baby gifts are carried. Watches are also available, including a complete line of Swiss Army and Nautica watches. A large selection of mother and child 14K gold and sterling silver pendants are very popular choices.

Both locations include repair and custom services. Most repairs are performed in Salem while the customer waits; jewelry repairs are not sent out to another location. They specialize in appraisals, which are also done on the premises while you wait (items do not have to be left in the store).

Clifford Jewelers' North Andover store is located at Messina's Plaza, 109 Main Street. Telephone: (508) 682-4653. The Salem, N.H. location is 54 N. Broadway, Route 28, across from Dodge Grain. Telephone: (603) 894-5755.

The stores are open Tuesday through Saturday. John Clifford is at the North Andover store on Friday and Saturday afternoons and available in Salem at all other times.

Squirt As capture 3 wins

With an unassisted goal, followed by a Dave McGrath-Tucker Prudden assault on goal and a Jonathan Swift tap-in to tie the game with seconds left in the first. Cambridge put on the pressure with six-play, but defense by Patrick Linneman and saves by Chris Schwartz limited the damage to a single point. Justin Leder, Danny Berman and Mike Corey took hold of contested plays. This renewed control came to fruition when Mike Lanciani set up a full ice rush passing up to Swift who set up Prudden on the tying point. Swift tallied his second score and N.C. Corey scored with an assist by Stearns.

Andover 2 - Revere 0

Revere had been shut out in 50 games until they met hot Andover Squirt As. In the third period Mike Corey scored a goal from a set up by Johnny Stearns. Defense-man Patrick Linneman then cleared the puck long distance to Danny Berman who scored a "head-over-heals" shot to put Andover ahead 2-0.

West Middle Principal Sam Campbell reads his statement Tuesday.

This is Dr. Campbell's statement

ferences in our perceptions of my leadership of the school, of my evaluation of teachers, and of my administrative style and processes.

"Because public discussion has centered around my personnel file, because certain questions about what it contains inevitably are rising, and because there is nothing dark or sinister therein, I am waiving my right to privacy during the remaining days of May, 1995, and will so direct the personnel office immediately. The only stipulations will be that any other names in my evaluation documents will be concealed, and that copies not be made or taken from the School Department offices.

"As plainly as I can say it, if I had been offered a contract for one or more years, I would have accepted it. I have been asked by many people whether, if now offered a contract, I would accept it. I have consistently said that I am certain I will not be offered one, and, if it were offered, I would not accept it. If, however, that actually were to happen, I would now need to think very seriously about such a decision.

"I am sorry that I have become the center of public controversy, although I must admit that the public support is most heartening and uplifting. Of greater importance than who will be principal at West Middle School are the issues of process, honesty, trust, common goals, listening, common decency, and, most vital of all, the good of the children who pass through our schools.

"Finally, I have been truly overwhelmed by the show of support from parents, teachers, and other community members. Because of that public support, I'll leave Andover with fond memories and a sense that perhaps I have made some contributions to the students of Andover."

'How will we trust the existing School Committee again?'

Editor, Townsmen:

There is no doubt that we will be reading more about the "plot" of some School Committee members against Dr. Campbell.

I attended the first half of the School Committee meeting [Tuesday night], and I have several reactions. Dr. Campbell had just finished his statement (and I, being a Dr. Campbell supporter, was sad, because I found out that the rumor of the forced resignation was true), when without further ado, Ms. Dalton brought the meeting to a halt. I felt that she was terribly abrupt and unfeeling; in fact, her condescending and defensive manner, all night up to that point disturbed me. On the other hand, I have been very impressed with Mr. Birnback's enthusiasm and compassion.

I will miss Dr. Campbell. How will we be able to trust the entire existing School Committee again?
